

Nathan Levy: “How to Help Your Child Be a Better Thinker and Learner” – Feb. 24, 2011

Broomfield Academy Distinguished Speaker Series

You are invited to attend a presentation and conversation with Nathan Levy, titled "How to Help Your Child Be a Better Thinker and Learner", on February 24th, 2011 from 6:30-8:30 pm at the Broomfield Auditorium, 3 Community Park Road, Broomfield, CO 80020.

This engaging presentation explores numerous ways to reach learners in different and interesting ways. Parents will learn to assist their children in developing and improving fluency in thinking, writing and learning. Participants will leave with a multitude of new timesaving strategies, abundant creative ideas for activities, and knowledge of specific materials for implementing these new strategies. Join Nathan for his informative and humorous presentation. Bring your thinking caps...and your sense of humor!

Nathan Levy is the author of best-selling books that make kids think. Nathan is an international public speaker and a gifted educator who has developed unique teaching strategies that encourage the love of learning. Mr. Levy has mentored more than thirty principals and superintendents, as well as helped to train thousands of teachers and parents in better ways to help children learn. Mr. Levy's ideas have helped raise pupil achievement and increase the enthusiasm to teach and learn.

Drawing on his experiences as a dynamic New York City teacher, successful school principal, district-gifted coordinator, and as an author of over 50 books, Mr. Levy makes audiences laugh and applaud when he speaks about improving the thinking, learning and communication skills of adults and children. Curious children and adults all over the world use his 20-volume Stories With Holes series and 6-volume Intriguing Questions series. Nathan has substituted his desires to be a professional basketball or football player with the desire to help make the world a better and more literate place.

Broomfield Academy is honored to host this free community event for parents, teachers, and others interested in educating children. The topic of the evening is “How to Help Your Child Be a Better Thinker and Learner.” There is no charge to attend, though a suggested donation of $5-10 per person will be used to offset the cost of the program.

RSVP's are kindly requested, as seating is limited. To RSVP please click on the “RSVP to Nathan Levy Presentation” link on the left side of the Broomfield Academy home page:

Broomfield Academy's mission to provide continuing programs, scholarships, and offerings to the community through a focus on individualized educational programs helping children to be exceptional, accelerated, and creative.

At Broomfield Academy we believe every child has needs that go far beyond their academic endeavors. Children require special attention to focus their abilities, both academic and social. With small class sizes, the teachers and staff of Broomfield Academy recognize, acknowledge and celebrate our children and individualize their teaching for each child, in each subject. Our staff, resources, mentorship programs and frequent field trips enhance the hands-on learning approach. All of these techniques are encompassed in a loving, caring and learning environment designed to fit the individual needs and interests of each child. In addition to core academic subjects, swimming, art, Spanish and Chinese language instruction, PE, technology, music, drama, and a wide-variety of on-site extracurricular activities round out the educational experience. Please visit www.broomfieldacademy.com or call (303) 469-6449 for more information.
